

RUSH OF PRESENTS SWAMPS POSTOFFICE

Postmaster Kurtz Says It is Worse Than Ever This Year.

CLERKS EATING ON THE FLY

Horse and Wagon Takes Out Packages
But They Come In Faster Than
They Can Be Delivered—Usual Hours Tomorrow and Monday.

The rush of Christmas presents caught the postoffice employees like a snowslide this morning. Every incoming mail brought its hundreds of packages which must be delivered by the already overworked force. The horse and wagon engaged by Postmaster A. E. Kurtz started out this morning in charge of the two substitute carriers, but even this did not seem to make a hole in the pile of packages that takes up nearly all the available floor space in the work room. The wagon will be

There promises to be a mountain of presents to be worked upon Monday. The office will remain closed as usual tomorrow, although the mails will be received and dispatched as usual. On Monday the windows will be closed from 10 A. M. until 6 P. M. One complate delivery and collection will be made Monday by the regular carriers while the substitutes will be working all day. Postmaster Kurtz stated he would close the extra stamp window located in his private office, this afternoon and put Clerk J. H. Smith at work assisting in delivering packages.

PITTSBURG GIRL IN RAID

Says She Attended Normal School Before She Fell.
GREENSBURG, Dec. 23.—(Spec.)—I am not a bad girl, I was up until a year ago, a student in the Indiana State Normal school and am from a good North Side, Pittsburgh, family. If you would find employment for me, I promise to behave myself.

This statement Justice of the Peace Reynolds Laughlin, of New Kensington, Pa., was made to him last night by Dorothy Tracy, aged 18 and pretty. The girl with Hazel Weir, aged 18, of Ford City, was caught in a raid on an alleged disorderly house in New Kensington last Sunday night. The girls appeared as witnesses only, at a hearing held by the Justice in cases where Paul Imroczek, aged 22, and Mrs. Jennie Marshall, aged 42 years, both of New Kensington, alleged proprietors of the house, were charged with pandering and illegal liquor selling. Imroczek and Mrs. Marshall were held for trial at court without bail and committed to the jail here. Employment as domestics was found for the girls.

BAD DIES.

Peter Duffy, Agent Ten, Succumbs From Tumor on the Brain.

Peter Duffy, aged 10 years, three months and 18 days son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Duffy, well known residents of Trotter, died last night at 9 o'clock last night at the family residence of an abscess of the brain. He had been ill since last June. Some time ago the child lost his equilibrium from the tumor on his brain and was taken to the Mercy hospital where every possible effort was made in hope of securing relief, but with no avail.

The boy was very popular among his many playmates and his death is keenly felt by all who knew him. He was born at Trotter. In addition to his parents he is survived by four sisters and one brother. Burial tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from his late home. Interment in Joseph's Cemetery.

IN FULF BEAST.

Coke Making is Booming in Preston County, West Virginia.

MORGANTOWN, Dec. 23.—(Special.)—The entire 500 ovens belonging to the Preston County Coke Company at Cascade are now in blast and the plant is working at full capacity. One hundred of the ovens have been fired during the past two months and between 300 and 500 men are now given employment.

A prominent official of one of the well known iron works of the United States inspected the plant about two months ago and examined the quality of the coke produced. Since his visit, the ovens have been gradually fired until the plant is now working at capacity.

There has been little change in the operations of the Elkins Coal & Coke Company since No. 2 mine was opened.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one disease that science has been able to cure. Catarrh is the only disease now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh is a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and restoring nature in doing its work. The proprietors have much to say in their private papers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for full particulars.

Merry, Merry Christmas

The cheery Spirit of Loving-Kindness is abroad in the land. Touched by its magic hand on Christmas morn, the Yuletide bells with glad some ringing will usher in a new era of joy and "peace on earth, good-will to men."

May the day be one of festivity and rejoicing for you, May it be the precursor of an epoch of unexampled prosperity and happiness; the dawn of a lasting period of peace and joy.

And we trust that the remembrances that so thoughtfully evince their donors' consideration will please and delight you, and that the care and good taste displayed in the selection of your gifts be appreciated, so that the serenity of your happiness may be unruffled and complete.

It is Cleaning Up Time,
After the Rush

The Union Supply Company stores have in effect now, active clearance sales. After the great holiday rush, we find many odds and ends throughout the entire stock; in every department. We also have many strong lines that are practically unbroken. In a word, we have too much stock, and our usual method of reducing stocks, is now in effect. It is a clearance sale, a cleaning out, a closing out of all odds and ends or surplus stock. It is a great time in the year to get bargains. The women's and girls' departments have many novelties; attractive coats, suits, hats and other winter garments; many of them marked down to one-half their actual value. If you have not yet bought your winter supply, now is the right time.

The Closing Out Bargains in the Shoe Department

cover the entire stock of men's, women's, boys' and girls shoes; all sizes. In large stocks like we carry, there naturally is an accumulation of odds and ends and it becomes necessary twice a year to clean them out. The most effective way we find to do this, is to cut the prices. That has been done, the goods are all going out at great reductions in price. In addition to the odds and ends, we also have some lines that are practically unbroken. These are due largely to the slackness in business, but we must sell them. Must get the stock reduced, and the most effective way, is again, to reduce the price. We guarantee every pair of shoes we sell. If not entirely satisfactory, we will replace them or refund your money.

TO THE NEW BOARD.

By Isaac J. Yukon.

YUKON, Dec. 22.—The Old School Board before it is entirely from view assigned to me the duty of turning over the keys of the educational situation with instructions that should point out the way. The old board vanished and its members have been assimilated by the great mass of common humanity which is not holding office.

The members of the old administration requested me to inform you that they have nothing to suggest in the way of using up the taxpayer's money. They feel that for you to discover. They feel that they have not administered in vain and all expressed their regrets at the hotel at being pushed to the rear of the office-holding procession by an unreluctant class of short-sighted voters.

You will find the treasury empty and the coal pile in the chalk box on the mantle. There should be several hundred dollars of your money on hand but the old members used it in giving a series of handouts in an effort to stir enthusiasm among discontented voters. After long experience, the old board found it a bad policy to keep money in a vault. The prospects for good times are bright. It is reported that not even the Presidential election, nor the incessant croakings of politically crushed and consequently insubordinate and bitterly rebellious organs of special political interests, can sweep back the tide of better business coming from the much-abused and little-credited forces in financial circles known as the business and when we make this statement of fact, we trust we will not be accused of being sycophantic.

Seriously, however, and cheerfully, too, in keeping with the holiday times, the outlook for 1912 business in the coal region is flattering. This is encouraging to the coal producers and they need some encouragement. It is also encouraging to the workmen, because it means more work and higher wages. While the miners and coal drawers of the Connelville coal region are being paid the highest wages on record, they have not always been able to get a whole week's work, and this has put down their income considerably. With the improved conditions, it is probable that this will not be the case so frequently during the coming year.

Upon the whole, therefore, Connelville and the coal region has reason to join cordially in the Spirit of the Christmas Season.

"The Herald is not built on sycophantic lines," to "The Untown Herald" informs us. No, it is not. It is built on business lines and its particular business is to abuse incessantly and outrageously the political enemies of the political ownership, and to sycophantically flatter over its political friends. The Herald is not built on sycophantic lines. It has a sycophantic foundation, sycophantic walls, sycophantic floors and a sycophantic roof, and its regular boarders are sycophants, but it is not built on sycophantic lines. Certainly not. Shame on him who would say so. We assure our esteemed readers that the Courier will never be guilty of uttering so foul a slander. Some papers are sycophantic and sleek but The Herald, never. It is at all times and upon all questions quite independent, except with the Men Higher Up issue orders.

Following its usual custom The Courier will suspend publication on Christmas.

The Untown Morning Herald proudly proclaims the fact that it is fighting for the Under Dog. So it is. It is also so that the Under Dog for which the Herald is now fighting was the Upper Dog when the Herald came into the political arena. The Herald fought so hard that it got its dog down from the top and upon the bottom, and it is now fighting to get it up again. The Herald is fighting so hard that it got its dog down from the top and upon the bottom, and it is now fighting to get it up again. The Herald is fighting so hard that it got its dog down from the top and upon the bottom, and it is now fighting to get it up again.

Merry Christmas makes many troubles, but still we like it.

Cheer up! Step out of the sombre shadow of fear into the sunlight of courage and hope.

The Week in School. (From the Saturday Evening Post.) Monday's Admonition Day—Hiring bindages and snoring. For Doctor Smith will cut away the adenoids you have. No doubt, you will be overjoyed, and then Doctor Jones through, To know no fruitful adenoid. Again will trouble you.

Tuesday will be Tonsil Day—Of that please make note. For Doctor Brown will cut away the tonsils from each throat. Being cotton, flat and caustic. This class meets sharp at ten. And tonight will be snored off clean—Nor trouble you again.

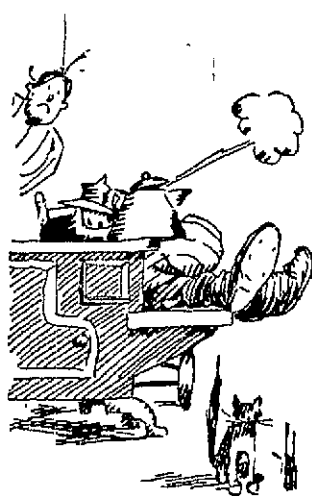

Wednesday is Appendix Day—For Classes A and B. When Doctor Smith will cut away the appendix. Please don't forget the day, as said—The classes meet at ten. Bring needles and a spot of thread To sew you up again.

Thursday's Antitoxin Day—So why be prophetic. Bring gauze and antiseptic spray. All right arms will be bared. Or left arms if you so elect. Be punctual, pray do. For Doctor Functure will inject The antitoxin sharp at two.

Friday's Vaccination Day—For fall and winter terms. Those who have fresh scars will stay. Half a billion's the amount. Classes meet at four. Doctor Green will make the count—Doctor Gray will pour.

Saturday's Reception Day—Bring stethoscopes—and Doctor Gray will make blood-counts, to see how science triumphs over disease—How antitoxins rule. Now mark the weekly program, please. And don't be late for school.

PLAN LARGE SOCIETY OF THE FRUIT GROWERS

Scottsdale Intends to Start a County Horticultural Organization This Fall

WITH THE FARMERS' INSTITUTE

Fully One Hundred Members From Both Counties Looked For—Dates Set For the Farmers Big Meeting. State Speakers Are Coming.

Special to The Courier.
SCOTSDALE, Dec. 23.—Scottsdale people plan to have another strong county life organization, a crystallization of those who have made the farmers' institutes, the Grange and other agricultural affairs interesting. The plans are well under way for the organization of the Westmoreland Horticultural Society in Scottsdale, and the society has the prospect of having at least 100 members. The society will take in members from all parts of both Westmoreland and Fayette counties, the great interest having been shown in the orchard demonstrations given at the demonstration orchards in the two counties under Prof. H. A. Surface, the State Zoologist, having put the proposition to organize a society which will be affiliated with the state organization in the way of fulfillment.

At no place in either county has there been displayed a greater interest in fruit growing and agricultural pursuits than in Scottsdale, so that this will be an excellent place to start the organization. Fully 50 men have been talked to with regard to the organization of the society and without an exception each one expressed the idea with enthusiasm. Prof. J. S. Briggs, the State Inspector and demonstrator, was in J. B. Fretts' orchard at the Hill Top Fruit Farm, west of town on Saturday, and he and Mr. Fretts gave a demonstration of pruning. In spite of the rainy day there were 150 people who gathered in the orchard and watched and heard Prof. Briggs' demonstration. This is a large number to be present and represented a large number of orchards and much value in fruit culture.

Prof. Briggs says that with a horticultural society organized here, the best of fruit growing experts of both the State and the United States may be secured by Scottsdale. The expense will be very nominal and the members will receive a valuable book containing a complete shorthand report of everything done by the society. The cost of membership will be $1 per year and the members get this report free. The date has been set for the farmers' institute in Scottsdale, which will be held in the hall of the Elmer & Craft building, where the State School convened last year. The dates will be January 22 and 23, and perhaps a third day's session.

Although the State did not appoint any speakers to Scottsdale to hold an institute, the local farmers went ahead and arranged a home institute. The excuse for not having an institute here this year was that Scottsdale is such an active town in this line that some places where the interest is so great should have the good that the State lecturers may bring the people. The enterprise of the Scottsdale farmers in holding an independent institute so unencumbered by the State authorities as to Scottsdale's progressiveness that A. L. Martin, Deputy Superintendent of Farmers' Institutes, has notified the local committee that they can have all four of the lecturers, when they close at Ligonlin on the Saturday previous to the Scottsdale institute. This is quite a fine thing for Scottsdale and will be much appreciated.

It is probable that arrangements will also be made to have Prof. J. S. Briggs here at that time also. In this event two days will hardly be enough to get the most benefit out of the talent both local and from abroad that will be here.

GOVERNOR SENTENCES HIMSELF TO TWO DAYS IN STATE PRISON

Governor Hooper of Tennessee Getting Penitentiary Insight Into Penitentiary Conditions.

United Press Telegram.
NASHVILLE, Tenn., Dec. 22.—Governor Ben W. Hooper, alone at daylight from his home in the State prison, performed his busy morning ablutions in the little tin pal furnished prisoners, and then made his way with a long line of long-termers to the penitentiary dining room, where under the watchful eyes of guards he ate a breakfast of prison "chow." Nor was it a special repast; he got what the prisoners got, and no more. Governor Hooper, Republican chief executive, has sentenced himself to two days in the State penitentiary, that he may study prison conditions and learn first hand how convicts live. Gov. Mahlon B. Patterson, his predecessor, was charged with being too free with pardons and Hooper, when he ran for office, promised not to grant so many. His followers think he already issued too many.

During his imprisonment Gov. Hooper has ordered the prison warden to treat him exactly as any other prisoner, except that he is to be permitted to mingle freely with the convicts, listen to their complaints and suggestions, and decide for himself whether any of the prisoners should be granted a Christmas pardon.

One of the chief complaints against Gov. Patterson was that he pardoned Duncan B. Cooper, convicted of the murder of the former Senator Curmack.

Card of Thanks.
Mrs. John Bryson and family of Dunbar, wish to express their sincere thanks to the many kind friends for their many acts of kindness and expressions of sympathy during the illness and death of their beloved husband and father, John Bryson.

TO KID THE DANDRUFF GERM.

Is the Only Possible Way of Having An Effective Cure.

If you see a woman or a man with lustrous glossy hair, you may be sure neither has dandruff to amount to anything. In nearly every case where women and men have thin brittle hair, they owe it to dandruff. There are hundreds of preparations that "claim" to cure dandruff, but not one but Newb's Hairdressing tells you that dandruff is the result of a germ burrowing into the scalp, and that permanent cure of dandruff and its consequent falling hair and baldness can be had by killing the germ; and there is no other preparation that will destroy that germ but Newb's Hairdressing. "Destroy the cause, and you remove the effect." Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpelco Co., Detroit, Mich.

3 CURED OF ECZEMA IN ONE FAMILY

By Cuticura Remedies. Children Scratched Night and Day. Mother Suffered 8 Years. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured Ringworm too.

"When a child, I suffered eight years with eczema. I could not sleep at night, and had sores all over my chest. We had doctors and none could do any good, until my mother saw the Cuticura Remedies in the paper. We used the Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Resolvent, and they cured me of eczema. I also used them on my five children. Two of them had eczema very badly. When my children had eczema, I was not worried at all, as I knew the Cuticura Remedies would do their work. They had sores all over their heads, their hair would fall out, and they would scratch all night and day. They had it on their heads, face, and in back of the neck, so that all over their bodies would drop off. I washed their heads and bodies with Cuticura Soap and they are now as healthy as I am. Cuticura Soap and Ointment also cured my children of ringworm. I would not be without the Cuticura Remedies. They are wonderful. (Signed) Mrs. Violet Cole, 25 S. NEWS OF A DAY

IN SCOTSDALE.

Special to The Courier.
SCOTSDALE, Dec. 23.—Basketball has found a large following in Scottdale and this vicinity and the Scottdale School has not been defeated on their own floor thus far. Two interesting games have been arranged for on Christmas and will be played at Ellsworth Auditorium. The first game will be at 8 o'clock, that afternoon and the second game at 8 o'clock Christmas evening. The visiting team will be the Fayette City Independents, a swift five who have met and defeated some of the strongest and fastest teams of the Mononahela valley. To reach Ellsworth Park on the West Penn lake the Old Meadow car to Fourth Avenue.

Postoffice Hours.
Postmaster B. C. Fretts said last evening that yesterday was the busiest day he has ever known in the local office. Every one was kept on the hustle with packages and letters, and the amount of mail sent out and received was prodigious. The biggest rush will probably be this morning. On Christmas day the office will close at 11 to remain closed the balance of the day. The morning collections and morning delivery will be made, and the mails received and dispatched as usual. The rural route will be served, so that the country people will have just as much advantage as the town people in having Santa Claus make his call.

A Fine New Girl.
The population of Iron Bridge was increased the other day by the advent of a fine baby girl into the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Cradler. Mother and child are doing well.

Muddy Roads.
The roads about this locality are the muddiest they have been this season, while a lot of the squinting brick pavements about town are getting in their work. One of the particular and provoking ones is on Broadway. The others are in the same places that they were a year or more ago when a crusade for better pavements was started and when they were repaved as far as the people could be compelled to do so, where the town bluffers stood the authorities off, and kept their pavements in their old shameful condition.

Mt. Pleasant.

MT. PLEASANT, Dec. 23.—The St. Joseph's Parochial school closed on Thursday for the holiday vacation with the following program: Icom No. 8, trio, Hubert Hires, James McGee and John Donnelly; drill by boys picked from all the rooms, led by Joseph Kirk, captain; song, Room No. 3; tableau, "Shoe Shines" song, Room No. 6; tableau, "Different Nations" recitation, Room No. 6; recitation, Frank Jackson; playlet, "Daddy Grumble." At the close of the program Santa Claus came and presented each pupil with a box of candy. The room was beautifully decorated in Christmas trees and holly.

Dave Fitzgerald of State College is home for the holiday vacation. Howard Stoner, a senior at Findlay College at Findlay, O., came yesterday to spend Christmas with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Stoner. Mrs. Edgar T. Stevenson and son, James Bradlock of Franklin, Pa., returned home to spend Christmas with Mrs. Stevenson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Bradlock.

Miss Violet Crosby entertained the Boy Scout Club at 15 presents and during the evening Santa Claus made his appearance and delivered his presents. Christmas decorations were used.

Misses Adelaide Ramsey, Mabel Stephens, Ota Stoner and Nellie Ramsey, Indian Normal arrived home last evening for the holiday vacation.

Miss Mary Cheney of Scottdale, was the guest of Mrs. James McGee yesterday.

Charles Hartigan, a student at St. Vincent's College at Lehigh, arrived home yesterday.

Ira Shaw was a business caller in Connelville last evening.

Manager Carson has announced a Christmas matinee for Monday afternoon at 2:30.

Miss Margaret Kaip, a teacher at Bucknell, is to spend Christmas with her mother, Mrs. Kulp of Main street.

The Otterbein Brotherhood held a meeting at the United Brethren church last evening.

Miss Robb of Lebanon is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Oliver Seaton.

Misses Mabel Boyer and Pearl Grull students at Bucknell arrived home yesterday.

About 70 people attended the private skating party given at the rink last evening by Andrew Wilson, Carl Barnhart and Fred Miller. Out of town guests were present from Greensburg and Scottdale. Lunch was served.

Smithfield.

SMITHFIELD, Dec. 22.—J. R. Vance, Curtin Show, H. C. Huhn and Willey Abraham attended the School Directors' meeting at the county institute on Thursday.

Paul Abraham, a student at a law school at Pittsburgh, is at the home of his parents here for the holiday vacation.

Miss Edith McLaughlin, a pupil in the public schools here, is taking her vacation clerking in the Consumers' Supply store here.

Charles Hiram is home on a vacation from the Jefferson Medical College on the holiday vacation.

A. Howard returned from Uniontown Wednesday, where he had spent a couple of days visiting relatives. Joseph Dunham and wife of Wynne Gap, were in the borough on Thursday.

Miss Goldie Stewart was a Uniontown shopper on Tuesday.

Squire O'Neill was transacting business at the county seat on Tuesday.

Harry Abraham picked up a wild birdman at the B. & O. depot and landed him in the borough battle for a night's lodging.

RED CROSS SEALS

Only Emblem Under Which All Credits and Classes Unite.

Hurry up calls for more Red Cross seals are thronging into the office of the Pennsylvania Society for the Prevention of Tuberculosis. The demand for Red Cross seals has doubled in the past week. Every class, kind and condition of people are buying the little stamps. An old lady living in a home for the aged sent 15 cents to the Red Cross seal headquarters and asked for seals.

Scores of banks, trust companies and drug stores throughout the State are selling the stamps. Both Mayor Blankenburg of Philadelphia and former Mayor Keyburn have endorsed the sale. Ex-Mayor Keyburn bought the first seal.

The seal is proving to be of great educational value. People who hitherto shunned the consumptives as they should a smallpox patient are becoming more humane. They are learning that the consumptive deserves their sympathy and needs their help.

The Red Cross Christmas seal is the standard of the nation. It is the only emblem under which all credit classes and conditions of people can unite. It more than anything else emphasizes the brotherhood of man. Just as the fighting for a common cause in the Spanish-American War cemented the bonds between the North and South, so the struggle against the omnipresent disease, tuberculosis, brings all makers and should be to shoulder. The highest function of the Red Cross Christmas seal is not to raise Christmas money, but to symbolize this movement of all people toward one purpose—the uplift of humanity.

MRS. MARY REED IS DEAD
AT HER HOME IN SCOTSDALE

Was Aged 75 Years and Had Been Ill For Some Time—Was the Wife of George W. Reed.

Special to The Courier.
SCOTSDALE, Dec. 23.—Mrs. Mary Reed, wife of George W. Reed, died at her home on Market street, early this morning, aged 75 years. Mrs. Reed had been ill for some length of time, much of the time being unable to do anything for herself. She was a member of the First Methodist Episcopal church of Scottdale and a regular attendant at all its services until taken too ill to longer get out. Her husband is likewise an active and regular attendant at the church, except for the last several weeks when he would not leave his wife for that long. Both have many friends who admire the lives they have led, and the hopefulness and sweetness displayed under sore trials.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Reed leaves the following grown children: Mrs. Jefferson Froeman, Mrs. T. B. May and Mrs. H. S. Thomas of Scottdale; Mrs. Harry Deemer of Yukon; and Harry Reed of Mt. Pleasant; Charles Reed of Harwick, and Joseph Reed of near Uniontown. One son is dead.

WONDERFUL GROWTH

OF POPULATION IN TERRITORY OF WEST PENN RAILWAYS IN TEN YEARS.

From figures just given out by the Bureau of Census, Washington, statistics have just been compiled by J. S. & W. S. Kohn, Inc., disclosing the remarkable growth in the last 10 years of the countries tributary to the West Penn-Traction Company's lines in the Western portion of Pennsylvania; these counties being Allegheny, Westmoreland, Fayette, Washington, Beaver, Greene and Armstrong.

The counties mentioned show an increase in population from 1900 to 1910 of over half as much as the entire remaining portion of the State of Pennsylvania. The average of the density of population of these counties is 334.7 per square mile, while the average of 19 most densely populated Eastern counties is only 254.3. The seven counties are growing much faster than the rest of Pennsylvania, a fact which demonstrates forcibly the continued supremacy of the Pittsburgh district.

Percentage of increase in population denotes rapidly of growth and from these figures it is proven that the West Penn territory is growing more rapidly than any other section of the State. The average of growth over the entire State was 21.8 per cent. The average of the increase of growth of this territory was 36.1 per cent for the same period, the growth being about two-thirds more rapid than the rest of the State.

The census figures also indicate an astonishingly large bulk increase in population in Allegheny, Fayette, Westmoreland, Washington, Beaver, Greene and Armstrong counties taken as a whole. Outside of the seven counties, the remainder of the State, including the city of Philadelphia, gained 22.077 in the period from 1900 to 1910. The counties above referred to made a gain of 409,521 during this period, or over half as much as the entire remaining 60 counties. In the seven counties in the West Penn-Traction territory there are 1,738,011 people, or 22.5 per cent of the total population of the State for 1910, which was 7,665,111.

Density of population is a large factor in the value of tract and lighting territory. The average of the density of population per square mile of the seven counties above mentioned, was for 1910, the latest available figures, 334.7. The average for the State was 171. This shows that the West Penn territory is nearly twice as densely populated as the average over the State. Comparing the average of the counties of the West Penn territory with the CHAPTER I.

The roaring reports of the motor fell into abrupt silence, as the driver brought his car to a halt.

"You signaled," he called across the road of set brakes.

In the blending glare of the search-lights from the two machines, the gray one arriving and the limousine drawn to the roadside, the young girl stood, her hand still extended in the gesture which had stopped the man who now leaned across his wheel.

"Oh, please," she appealed again.

On either side stretched away the Long Island meadows, dark, soundless, apparently uninhabited. Only this spot of light broke the monotony of dreariness. A keen, chill, October wind sighed past, stirring the girl's delicate gown as its folds lay unheeded in the dust, fluttering her fur-lined cloak and shaking two or three childish curls from the bondage of her velvet hood. The driver swung himself down and came toward her with the unhesitating swiftness of one trained to the unexpected.

"I beg pardon—can I be of some use?" he asked.

"We are lost," she confessed hurriedly. "If you could set us right, I should be grateful. I—no, I must get home soon. I have been a guest at a house somewhere here, and started to return to New York this afternoon. The chauffeur does not know Long Island; we cannot seem to find any place. And now we have lost a third."

She broke off abruptly, as her companion descended from the limousine.

"We only want to know the way," she said. "This is my cousin; I came out after her, you see. Don't get so worried, Emily; we'll get straight on as soon as Anderson changes the car."

He hugged his words slightly and spoke too rapidly, the round, good-humored face he turned to the white light was too flushed; otherwise there was nothing unusual in his appearance. And his caste was evident and unquestionable in spite of any circumstances. There was no anger in his dark eyes as he gazed straight before her, only pity and helpless distress.

"I can tell your chauffeur the road," the driver of the gray car quietly said.

"To the St. Royal," she answered, looking at him. "My uncle is there. Is that far?"

"No; you can reach there by ten o'clock. I will speak to your chauffeur."

"Do, like a good fellow," the other man interposed. "A really obliging chauffeur, Emily," he added, lowering his voice, and moving nearer her. "Since we're engaged, why should you get frightened simply because I proposed we get married to-night instead of waiting for a big wedding? I thought it was a good idea, you know. It isn't my fault. Anderson got lost instead of getting us home for dinner, is it?"

"Hush, Dick," she rebuked, hot color sweeping her face. "You, you are not well. And we are not engaged; you forget. Just because people want us to be—"

"Too proud to let her staidness quiver, she broke the sentence."

If the driver had heard, and it was scarcely possible that he had not, he made no sign. By the acetylene light he produced an envelope and pencil, and proceeded to sketch a map showing the route to the limousine's chauffeur.

"Understand it?" he queried, concluding. He had a certain decision of manner, not in the least arrogant, but the result of a serene self-surety that somehow accorded with his lithe, trained grace of movement. A judge of men would have rated him an athlete, perhaps in an unusual line of athletics. "Yes, sir," the chauffeur replied.

"I'll get Miss French home in no time after I get the tire on."

The indiscretion of the spoken name was ignored, except for a slight lift of the hearer's eyebrows.

"How long does it take you to change a tire?"

"About half an hour; it's night, of course."

An odd, choking gurgle sounded from the gray machine, where a dark figure had sat until now in quiescent muteness.

"Half an hour!" echoed the gray machine's driver, and faced toward the chauffeur. "Rupert, it isn't your contract, but do you want to come over and change this tire?"

"I'll do it for you, Darling," was the sweet response; the small figure rolled over the edge of the car with a cat-like celerity. "Where are your tools, your chauffeur?"

The bewildered chauffeur mechanically reached for a box on the running-board, as the young assistant came up, grinning all over his malignant dark face.

"Oh, quicker! What's the matter, rheumatism? They wouldn't have you in a training camp for motor trucks on Sunday."

There never had been anything done to that sedate limousine quite as this was done. Even the preoccupied girl looked on in fascination at a rapidity of unwieldy movement suggesting a conjuring feat.

"By George!" exclaimed her escort.

"A splendid man you've got there! Really, a splendid chauffeur, you know."

The driver smiled with a gleam of irony, but disregarded the comment.

"Would you like to get into your car?" he asked the girl. "You will be able to start very soon."

"I see that," she acknowledged gratefully. "Thank you; I would rather wait here."

"Is your chauffeur trustworthy?"

"Oh, yes; he has been in my uncle's employ for three years. But he was never before out here, in this place."

There was a pause, filled by the soft monotone of insults drifting from the side of the limousine, for Rupert talked while he worked and his fellow-worker did not please him.

"French, baby hippo! Oh, look behind you where you put it—you need a memory course. You ought to be passing spoons to a lady with a sewing machine. Did you ever see a motor car before? There, pump her up, do."

He rose, drew out his watch and glanced at it. "Five minutes; I'll have to bust that day after tomorrow."

The driver looked over at him and their eyes laughed together. Now, for the first time the girl noticed that across the shoulders of both men's jerseys ran in silver letters the name of a famous foreign automobile.

"I am very grateful, indeed," she said bravely and graciously. "I wish I could say more, or say it better. The journey will be short, now."

But all her dignity could not check the frightened shrinking of her glance, first toward the interior of the limousine and then toward the man who was to enter there with her. And the driver of the gray machine saw it.

"We have done very little," he returned. "May I put you in your car?"

The chauffeur was gathering his tools, speechlessly outraged, and making ready to start. Seated among the rugs and cushions, under the light of the luxurious car, the girl deliberately drew off her glove and held out her small uncovered hand to the driver of the gray machine.

"Thank you," she said again, meeting his eyes with her own, whose darkness contrasted oddly with the blonde curls clustered under her hood.

"You are not afraid to drive into the city alone?" he asked.

"Alone! Why, my cousin—"

"Your cousin is going to stay with me."

She flung back her head; amazement, question, relief struggled over her sensitive face, and finally melted into irresponsible mirth under the faint amusement of his regard.

"You are clever—and kind—to do that! No, I am not afraid."

He closed the door.

"Take your mistress home," he bade the chauffeur. "Crank for him, Rupert."

"Why, why?" stammered the limousine's other passenger, turning as the motor started.

No one heeded him.

"By-by, don't break any records," Rupert called after the chauffeur.

"Hold yourself in, do. If you shed any more tires, telephone for me, and if I'm within a day's run I'll come put them on for you and save you time."

Silence closed in again, as the red tail light vanished around a bend. The gray car's driver nodded curtly to the stupefied youth in the middle of the road.

"Unless you want to stay here all night, you'd better get in the machine," he suggested. "My name's Lestrango—I suppose yours is French."

"Dick French. But, see here, you mean well, but I'm going with my cousin. I'd like a drive with you, but I'm busy."

"You're not fit to go with your cousin."

"Not—"

"Fit," completed Lestrango defiantly. "Can you hang on somewhere, Rupert?"

"Can, Rupert assured, with an infection of his own. "Get your friend aboard."

Lestrango was already in his seat, waiting.

"What's that for?" asked the dazed guest, as, on taking his place, a strap was slipped around his waist, securing him to the seat.

"So you won't fall out," soothed the grinning Rupert. "You ain't well, you know. Not that I'd care if you did, but somebody might blame Darling."

The car leaped forward, gathering speed to an extent that was a revelation in motoring to French. The keen air, the giddy rush through the dark, were a sobering tonic. After a while he spoke to the man beside him, nervously embarrassed by a situation he was beginning to appreciate.

"This is a racing car."

"It was."

"Isn't it now?"

"If I were going to race it day after tomorrow, I wouldn't be risking it on a country road to-night. A racing machine is petted like a race horse until it is wanted."

"And then?"

"It takes its chances. If you are connected with the Frenches who manufacture the Mercury car, you should know something of automobile racing yourself. I noticed your limousine was of that make."

"Yes, that is my uncle's company."

did see a race once at Coney Island. A car turned over and killed its driver and made a nasty mess. I—I didn't fancy it."

A wheel slipped off a stone, giving the car a swerving lurch which was as instantly corrected with a second lurch—by its pilot. The effect was not tranquilizing; the shock swept the last confusion from French's brain.

"Where are you taking me?" he presently asked.

"Where do you want to go? I will set you down at the next village we come to; you can stay there to-night or you can get a trolley to the city."

The question remained unanswered. Several times French glanced, rather diffidently, at his companion's clear, firm profile, and looked away again without speaking.

"I want out to get my cousin to-day, and my host gave me a couple of highballs," he volunteered, at last. "I don't know what you thought."

Lestrango twisted his car around a belated farm wagon.

"How old are you?" he inquired calmly.

"Twenty-three."

"I'm nearly twenty-seven. That's what I thought."

The simpler mind considered this for a space.

"Some men are born awake, some awake themselves, and some are shaken into awakening," paraphrased Lestrango, in addition. "I was you. I'd wake up; it comes easier and it's sure to arrive anyhow. There is the village ahead—shall I stop?"

"It looks terribly dull," was the doleful verdict.

Then come with me," flashed the other unexpectedly; for a fractional instant his eyes left the road and turned to his companion's face. "Did you ever see race practice at dawn? Come try a night in a training camp."

"You'd bother with me?"

"Yes."

A head bobbed up by French's knee, where Rupert was clinging in some inexplicable fashion.

"Once I rode eight miles out there by the hood, head downward, holding in a pin," he imparted, by way of entertainment.

French stared at the reeling perch indicated, and gasped.

"Wake for me, please."

"So we could keep on to our control instead of being put out of the running, of course. Did you guess I was curling a headache?"

"But you might have been killed!" exclaimed French.

Even by the dim light of the lamps there was visible the mechanician's droll twist of lip and brow.

"I'd drive to hell with Lestrango," he explained sweetly, and settled back in his place.

French drew a long breath. After a moment he again looked at the driver.

"I'll come," he accepted. "And, thank you."

It was Lestrango who smiled this time, with a sudden and enchanting warmth of mirth.

"We'll try to amuse you," he promised.

CHAPTER II.

It was a business consultation that was being held in Mr. French's little library, in spite of the presence of a tea table and the young girl behind it.

A consultation between the two partners who composed the Mercury Automobile company, of whom the latter was speaking with a certain anecdotal weight.

"And he said he was losing too much time on the turns; so the next round he took the bend at 72 miles an hour."

The third car we lost this year; I'm glad the season's closed."

Emily French gave an exclamation, her velvet eyes widening behind their black lashes.

"But the driver! Was the poor driver hurt, Mr. Bailey?"

"He wasn't killed, Miss Emily," answered Bailey, with a tinge of pensive regret. He was a large, ruddy, white-haired man, with the slow and careful habit of speech sometimes found in those who live much with massive machinery. "No, he wasn't killed; he's in the hospital. But he was wrecked as good a car as ever was built, through sheer foolishness. It costs money."

Mr. French responded to the indirect appeal with more than usual irritation, his level gray eyebrows contracting.

"We ought to have better drivers. Why do you not get better men, Bailey? You wanted to go into this racing business; you said the cars needed advertising. Satisfied customers are tended to that side of the factory affairs while he lived, with you as his manager. Now it is altogether in your hands. Why do you not find a proper driver?"

"Perhaps my hands are not used to holding so much," mused Bailey unrepentantly. "A man might be a good manager, maybe, and weak as a partner. It isn't the same job. But a first-class driver isn't easy to get, Mr.

French. There's Delmar killed, and George tied up with another company, and Dorian retired, all this last season; and we don't want a foreigner. There's only one man I like—"

"Well, got him? Pay him enough."

Bailey lunched himself together together and crossed his legs.

"Yes, sir. He's beaten our cars—and others—every race lately, with poorer machines, just by sheer pretty driving. He drives fast, yet he doesn't knock out his car. But there's a lot after him—there's just one way we could get him, and get him for keeps."

"And that?"

"He's ambitious. He wants to get into something more solid than racing. If we offered to make him manager, he'd come and put some new ideas, maybe, into the factory, and race our cars wherever we chose to enter them. I know him pretty well."

The proposition was advanced tentatively, with the hesitation of one venture in unknown places. But Ethan French said nothing, his gray eyes fixed on the hearth.

"He understands motor construction and designing,"

French said, and he's been with big foreign firms," Bailey resumed, after waiting. "I'd be useful around; I can't be everywhere. What he'd do for us in racing would help a whole lot. It's very well to make a fine standard car, but it needs advertising to keep people remembering. And men like to say 'my machine is the same as Lestrango's on the cup race with.' They like it."

"I don't know," said Mr. French slowly, "that it is dignified for the manager of the Mercury factory to be a racing driver."

"The Christiane cars are driven by the son of the man who makes them," was the response. "Some drive their own."

Just As Scores of Conneltsville People

Waiting doesn't pay.

If you neglect the aching back, urinary troubles surely follow.

Act in time by curing the kidneys. Dean's Kidney Pills are especially for such weakened kidneys.

Many people in this locality recommend them.

Here's one case:

Mrs. W. L. Johnson, 111 Chestnut St., Conneltsville, Pa., says: "I was afflicted with kidney complaint for some time and was caused much suffering by backache, dizzy spells and headache. The last week I tried me and I did not rest well. I finally decided that I was in need of a kidney medicine and as I had often heard about Dean's Kidney Pills, I procured a supply. Their use made a marked improvement from the first and gradually the symptoms of my trouble disappeared, until I was enjoying good health. Dean's Kidney Pills a most efficient kidney medicine." (Statement given October 8, 1907.)

A Second Statement.

When Mrs. Johnson was interviewed on October 9, 1909, she added to the above: "I can still recommend Dean's Kidney Pills highly, for the relief they gave me has been permanent. I have had no need for the kidney medicine during the past two years."

"THE ROSARY."

"The Rosary," Rowland & Clifford's theatrical success, which will be seen at the Soisson theatre Thursday, Dec. 28, tells a story of a modern Garden of Eden in which the serpent enters in form of a rejected author, who wrecks the home and happiness of a married couple by playing upon the jealousy of the husband. There is diffused throughout the drama a remarkable air of purity, faith and hope from the opening scene, which pictures the happy couple about to celebrate their second marriage anniversary, and surrounded by all the creature comforts of modern civilization to the last act when the twin, broken in health and fortune, and wrecked by jealousy come after two weary years at the feet of the old priest who has fathered them throughout their troubles. In the days of their prosperity they had built a chapel for their old friend the priest, and in their adversity they come back to the little edifice one Sunday morning, just as the chimes sound their music rolling through the valley.

"THE COWBOY AND THE THIEF."

One of the most successful of all the season's dramas, having the west for its locale, and its characters and scenic equipment true to life, is "The Cowboy and the Thief," which comes to the Soisson theatre Christmas morning and night. This is the third successful season of this clever play, which promises to last as long and become as popular with the better class of theatre goers as "Arizona," "The laughter and tears. You will not be frightened out of your seats by heavy explosives. But you will laugh a great deal, and you will cry some, and you will be glad that you came to see "The Cowboy and the Thief."

"MADAME SHERREY."

"Madame Sherry," the sensational musical production of a decade is to return to the Soisson theatre Friday, Dec. 29, this being one of the cities included in the second trans-continental tour of this greatest of all musical players.

Each year in the theatrical world, there are just so many successful plays—plays that immediately grip the public and cause them to go to the theatre night after night, and applaud and enjoy the work of the artists appearing. Out of these successes there is generally one that strikes a note much higher—so much so that it stands practically alone. Such a one was "Madame Sherry." Its success was immediate and lasting, as was verified by the hundreds of thousands who flocked to see it wherever produced. Local theatregoers will remember with pleasure the former engagement in this city, and few there are who will not avail themselves of the opportunity to see and hear it again.

ADAMS IS LEADING CENTRAL LEAGUE

But the Figures Show Billy Kummer to be Best Point Scorer.

JOHNSTOWN HAS TEAM LEAD

Four of Fogarty's Regulars Have Scored 100 Points or More—Kummer is the Best Foul Shooter.
Wohlforth High Man.

Averages for the Central league players up to the Christmas layout show that Johnstown has about everything cornered except individual records. Billy Kummer is the leading Coker, he is second in total points, but actually the best scorer.
His average is 21.6 points per game, against 20.4 for Adams, and 18.6 for both Fogarty and Sears. Adams is leading in total points by 10, but has played in two more games than Kummer.

The Johnstown team has four men scoring 100 points or better. All of these four have piled up more than 50 field goals. Wohlforth leading his teammates and the league with 84, Keenan having 71, Fogarty 65 and Newman 58. Kummer is the only Coker with more than 50 field goals, his mark being 72. Charleroi has Adams with 43 and J. Brown with 70.
Sears is the only Uniontown man in the charmed circle, having 51, while South Side has both Frankel and Roy Steele.

The Johnstown team is leading the league in scoring, with Connellsville 66 points behind. Charleroi is next best. In foul shooting Billy Kummer's steady tossing has placed him in the fore. He has a percentage of 71.1, Fogarty and Sears ranking next with .637 and .619.

The other Cokers are not doing so bad. Cavanaugh, with 22 points, is second to Kummer on the team. He leads all the centers in scoring except Keenan. Beggs is close behind Cavanaugh with 38 points. The other guards leading him in scoring are Wohlforth and Sears. Doherty and Dark are not scoring as well as last year but are running well up, considering the number of games they have played. Leo Egoft has also been a consistent point maker. Steve White is right up around Beggs and Cavanaugh. The figures follow.

FAYETTE CITY TEAM

Wants Games With Basketball Quintets in Its Class.

FAYETTE CITY, Dec. 23.—(Special).—The Scholastic basketball club of Fayette City is desirous of arranging games with all first class teams in this part of the country, Saturday evening dates preferred.

This team is composed of some of the best players in the Monongahela valley, who are in the game for the sport itself and not for financial gain. All the players are at present residents of Fayette City and live at one time played on various High School teams. Foremost of these are Davis who captained Pittsburg High, two years ago, Davidson of last year's Bradock High, Middleton of Charleroi High School, and Capt. Carlson of Fayette City High and other players who are truly gentlemen on and off the basketball floor.

Managers of Brownsville, Mason-town, Point Marion, Uniontown, Connellsville, McAllellandtown, Mt. Pleasant, Erie, Hill, Youngstown, Scottdale, West Newton University of West Virginia Freshmen and all other teams in this section of the country are requested to write the manager for Saturday dates and stating what sponsors or expenses can be made.
As above stated Fayette City is in the game for sport and would be willing to travel for some less than expenses to suitable towns. All aspirations to the High School title of Western Pennsylvania are requested to get in communication at once, write Limer Roy Fayette City, Pa.

Men Prominent in Sporting World Who Have Died During the Past Year.

Special to The Courier
NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—Many prominent figures in the world of sport and athletics have been removed by death during the year now drawing to a close. In the baseball world the National league in particular was a heavy sufferer, having lost Stanley Robinson, owner of the St. Louis club, William Hepburn Russell, President and chief owner of the Boston club and Frank S. Elliott, Vice President of the Philadelphia club.

The active players who passed away
during the year included: Addie Joss, the well known pitcher of the Cleveland Americans; George M. (Lotto) Craig, pitcher of the Indianapolis club of the American association; Napoleon (Pop) Leonard, pitcher of the Columbus American Association team; Michael Smalling, first baseman of the Lancaster Tri-State club; Simon Nicholas, shortstop and captain of the Philadelphia league club; Herman Fricke, second baseman of the Union team of the New York State league; Arthur Brown, first baseman of the Albany team of the New York State league and Harry Hammond, who had played with various teams of the Southern league and American association.

In addition to the active players many former stars of the diamond and others who had figured prominently in the national game in days gone by passed away during the year. Among these were Robert Caruthers, famous as a pitcher for the St. Louis Browns in the '80s and later an umpire in the American and minor leagues; William (Doc) Clarke, at one time a star pitcher of the New York Nationals; Jack Rowe, who was one of the 1885 big four of the Detroit team; John R. Radcliff, who played with the old Athletics of Philadelphia; Chas. A.
Grown, at one time a player on the Brotherhood team of Boston and later with the Lynn team of the New England league; Bert Briggs, a noted pitcher for the Chicago Cubs; Marshal Key King, a famous batter and outfielder in the early days of the National league; Arthur Clarkson, who played with New York, St. Louis, Baltimore, Milwaukee and other clubs.
Dr. John Draper, who organized the famous Red Stockings in Cincinnati in the '50s, also was among them.

There were no less fatalities among professional pugilists during the year either. Among these were: Louis Long of Oakland, Cal., who was the only fighter of any note to die. Several old-timers passed away among them Charlie McKeever, at one time one of the best of Philadelphia's lightweights and Hank Griffin, the well known colored heavyweight.

Well known to followers of pugilism was M. J. Hagan, the Chicago referee and sporting writer. Eddie Smith, the San Francisco referee, Tim (Pop) Coulton, father and manager of Bantamweight Champion Johnny Coulton, John H. Gussard, of Brooklyn, who was John L. Sullivan's trainer, and William A. Pearce, of Boston, who had managed Jack Johnson for Walter George Dixon, Marvin

Hart and other noted fighters.
The losses of the year in the turf world included August Uhlen, of Milwaukee, owner of The Harvester and other famous trotters; David C.
Johnson, who achieved his widest prominence as the owner of Rosebush, Ods Bart of Flushing N. Y., who drove the famous Flors temple in the city; W. C. O'Brien of Waukegan, Ill., a well known trainer of trotting horses; Martin V. Walls of Columbus O. for many years a Grand Circuit judge; Alta P. MacDonald, a well known horseman of Albany, N.
Y.; Fred Clarke of Providence, well known as a trainer on Grand Circuit tracks; Myron D. Henry of Genesee, Ill., a veteran turfman and famous driver; David M. Rindolo, of Saratoga, a famous breeder and owner;
and E. B. Abercrombie of Chicago, turf editor and one of America's authorities on the harness horse.

Automobile racing claimed a toll of nearly a dozen deaths during the year 1911. The noted racers killed included Ned Crane killed at Kansas City April 14; Harry Daulton killed at Chicago June 11; Ed the Strong, killed at La Crosse July 10; Ralph H.
Trebend, killed at Elgin Ill. August 21.
Dave Buck killed at Elgin August
25. E. H. Pearce, killed at Stour City Oct. 19; Jay D. McKay killed at Savannah Nov. 20; Walter Donnelly killed at Milwaukee June 22 and Robert W. Bean killed at Denver
May 27.

The Hours It Cost Labor
Owing to labor disputes of all kinds in the United Kingdom during the past year, workmen lost time amounting in all to about 5,722,800 days.
